

Think about who you give your credit card information to!

I have a gift delivery for you. But give me your credit card details first, so I can charge you fees